The Students
of

Waynesboro High School

Waynesboro, Virginia

present

The 1963 Skyline

Waynesboro High School leads an active life at night with night school, meetings, athletic contests, social events, community activities, concerts, plays and rehearsals.

Foreword

The Skyline's purpose is to present the many facets of life at Waynesboro High School in a unified form. It tries to show each event in the school year in its own individual light, yet also to show the prevailing atmosphere at the high school. The Skyline attempts to show how a school can encompass so many varying attitudes—how there is a gay, light, fun-loving air along with a serious academic effort, how there can be fierce school patriotism and yet a friendly, open attitude toward strangers. It tries to point out the many different aspects of school life that combine to make up the spirit of Waynesboro High School.

Yet the Skyline also strives to be a catalogue of accurate information. It tries to include all the personnel involved with the school, to provide complete coverage of the year's events, to picture the academic, social, and athletic life of the students, and to serve as a reference and guide for future years.

Mr. Roger E. Padgett

Mr. and Mrs. Padgett are a big addition to the cheering section at W.H.S. basketball games.

We Honor

In 1959, Mr. Padgett's first year of teaching at Waynesboro High School, many of this year's Senior Class were impressed with his new, refreshing manner of teaching in freshman English classes. Since then our admiration for Mr. Padgett has grown, especially because he has worked closely with us for the last two years as our class sponsor. He has also sponsored the Student Waynesboro Education Association for four years and last year served as State F.T.A. Advisor. Mr. Padgett has many friends among the students and is a familiar figure at W.H.S. athletic events. He is respected by his fellow teachers as is evidenced by his election this year to the office of Secretary of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English.

It is with great pleasure that we, the Senior Class, dedicate the 1963 Skyline to Mr. Roger E. Padgett.

Mr. J. L. Johnson

Mr. Johnson's morning announcements over the public address system have become a daily ritual.

Principal

As one student put it, "Mr. Johnson is the perfect principal. I wouldn't trade him for anyone." This is the prevailing attitude among the students at Waynesboro High School, and it is well-founded. In Mr. Johnson's nine years as principal, he has attained a reputation for honesty, capability, and co-operation. He sees to it that Waynesboro High School functions smoothly and efficiently, and that each student develops to the best of his ability. Mr. Johnson's friendliness and sense of humor win him the good will as well as the respect of the student body.

Mr. Johnson will always have our best wishes and our thanks for the excellent education we have received.

Administration

Waynesboro High School functions smoothly and efficiently with the help of our various departments of administration. Under the watchful eyes of our teachers we make valiant efforts to increase our education. The secretaries in the office help us with problems ranging from college to lost football tickets. The members of the guidance council devote much of their time to helping us make a success of our high school careers. The cafeteria staff keeps us all in good health with their tasty lunches. Good old Waynesboro High School is kept clean and in excellent condition by our competent maintenance staff. The Waynesboro School Board, a group of respected Waynesboro citizens, is rarely seen by the students but is responsible for the school as a whole. Much gratitude is due to these people who have given so much to their lively, but eager, students.

Waynesboro School Board

Several fine citizens of our city take time from their busy lives to work for the betterment of the Waynesboro public schools. These people, appointed by the City Council, meet monthly to discuss plans for school expansion, improvement of facilities, hiring of teachers, finances, and over-all school curriculum.

Members of the Waynesboro School Board are Mr. Robert Gray, Dr. Beverly Loesch, Mr. F. B. Glenn, Dr. Monroe Couper, Mr. Robert Wilbur, and, standing, Mr. Thomas Overton.

The Faculty

Those most directly responsible for our education are our teachers. These capable people devote much of their time and energy in trying to make us the leaders of tomorrow.

By attending state, district, and local school meetings, our faculty members continually strive to improve their methods of teaching. In addition, there are special department meetings, such as science, English, math, and home economics.

Next to our parents, our teachers are the ones who have studied and helped us most. We want them to know that they will always have our gratitude, admiration, and good will for the labor and interest they have shown us.

Cafeteria Staff

Mary Stewart, Lucille Goines, Dolena Mickens, Mrs. Louise Hughes.

Maintenance Staff

Linwood Mitchell, Evern Jenkins, Marshall Lytle.

Students take a break from classes and relax with each other while waiting for lunch. This year the cafeteria offered a choice of two lunches.

The teacher's children get a chance to see the school at the annual faculty Christmas party.

The teachers have laid claim to one corner of the cafeteria where they enjoy lunch and lively conversation.

In the 1962 Junior Variety Show, Randy Snyder gave us a peek at one of the more unusual sides of his personality.

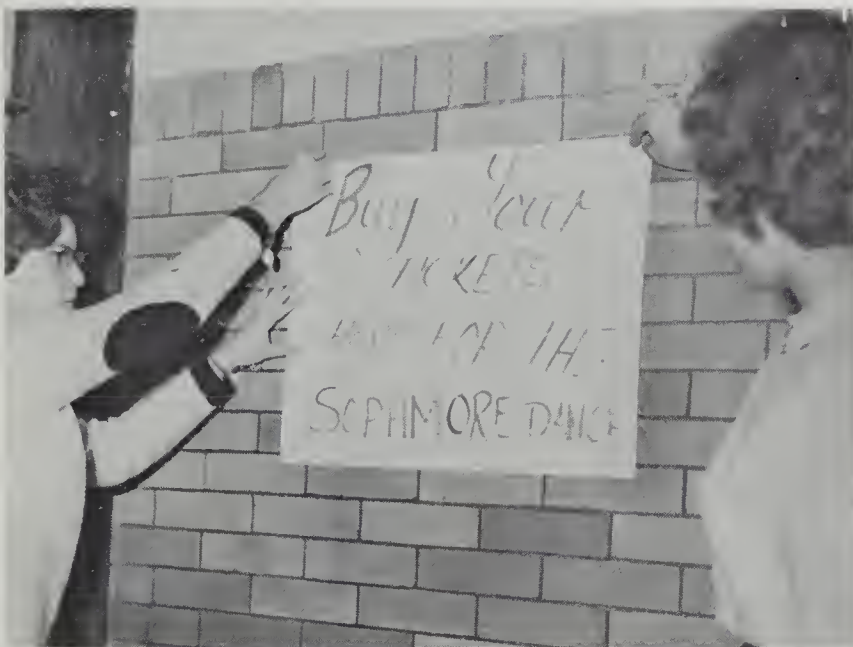

Classes

Seniors

Juniors

Anxious Juniors crowd into the office for the big decision—that of choosing a class ring.

The colossal Sophomore Dance will be long remembered for its originality—the first ten couples got in free, the rest either paid 59c or 69c, the dance started at 7:07 and ended at 10:59, the fabulous Fishburne Combo played, and it was the night before college boards.

Sophomores

Waynesboro High School's first Junior Varsity Cheerleaders, chosen from the Freshman Class, made their appearance at the beginning of the basketball season.

Freshmen

Seniors

Senior officers Chuck Jeffries, Vice President, Eddie Dedrick, President, Anna Conner, Secretary, and Ronnie Schneider, Treasurer, meet in the Senior Lounge.

The Class of '63 can look back on four active and prosperous years at Waynesboro High School. To raise money for the Junior-Senior Prom, the class as sophomores sold candy and as juniors sold Little Giant sweatshirts. One of the highlights of the junior year was the arrival of the anxiously awaited class rings. Practically everyone took part in the Junior Variety Show, which was centered around a time machine and found this year's seniors in ancient Rome, in the wild West, in the mid-twenties, and on the moon. The week preceding the French Prom was spent in painting murals, hanging crepe paper, constructing la Tour Eiffel, and building Waynesboro's own Cafe de la Paix.

This year the seniors have enjoyed privileges of Senior lunch, the Senior Lounge, and leaving assembly first. The class was interested in school sports with many participating on the teams. All the seniors looked forward with great anticipation to Finals and Graduation.

Now that they are leaving Waynesboro and looking to the future, the members of the Class of '63 realize that at old W. H. S. they gained a well-rounded background for the years ahead.

Senior Play

Blithe Spirit

Unable to see or hear her dead rival, Elvira, Ruth believes her husband to be the victim of an hallucination.

"Now, then; are you ready to empty your minds?" asks Madame Arcati before the seance with the Condomines and Bradmans.

CAST

Edith	Ellen Potts
Ruth	Carolyn Patterson
Charles	Eddie Dedrick
Dr. Bradman	Dud Vest
Mrs. Bradman	Patty Brennan
Madame Arcati	Mary Eckman
Elvira	Susan Wright
Director	Mrs. Elaine Moss
Student Director	Margie Clark
Producer	Mr. Roger Padgett
Student Producer	Zack Catterton

"Yes'm", says Edith, the scatter-brained maid, as she dusts. Through wise use of her large vocabulary she easily hid her supernatural ability throughout most of the play.

This year's active Senior Class chose to present Noel Coward's well-known farce, Blithe Spirit, during November. The play takes place in the English home of Charles and Ruth Condomine. While gathering material for a novel, Charles invites the wacky Madame Arcati to conduct a seance which results in the unexpected materialization of Charles' deceased first wife, Elvira. Since Charles is the only person capable of perceiving her, Ruth and the other guests, Dr. and Mrs. Bradman, remain oblivious to the spectre and sarcastic about the whole affair. Despite Elvira's flippant attitude, Charles eventually convinces his doubtful wife of the ghost's presence. Much of the play deals with the awkward position in which Charles is placed and with his efforts to get Elvira back to "the other side". Meanwhile Elvira schemes to kill Charles to get him to herself, but accidentally kills Ruth. Madame Arcati, elated with her "ectoplasmic manifestation", tries to exorcise Elvira, but adds Ruth's ghost to the scene by mistake. Finally Edith, the Cockney maid, succeeds in getting rid of both apparitions.

The cast and directors rehearsed every day for six weeks to find their hidden dramatic talents, to memorize lines, learn blocking, and to try out their seven varieties of English accents. It is interesting to note that they also learned Arctic survival methods in order to exist in the sub-zero climate of the auditorium. However, they enjoyed it, and the play was a success.

Mrs. Elaine Moss thoughtfully observes the dress rehearsal and adds the final touches. Mrs. Moss did a wonderful job of directing.

The Class of '64, which is one of the largest classes ever to enter Waynesboro High School, has devoted much of its Junior year to raising money for the Junior-Senior Prom. Among its activities have been bake sales and a sale of sweat shirts inscribed with advertisements for the Variety show. The 1963 Variety Show is considered to be one of the best ever given, due to the hard work and co-operation of the whole class.

Members of the Junior Class were active participants in all school projects, clubs, and teams. From the football team to the Student Council, from the dramatics club to Operation Santa Claus, Juniors could be found at all centers of activity.

Watch for next year's Seniors—they're coming up fast!

Sophomores

This year sophomores faced a much more difficult curriculum than they had last year as freshmen. Although subjects were harder, most sophomores found that studying was easier because of past experience and that their grades were higher. Beta Club offered a firm goal for many to work for.

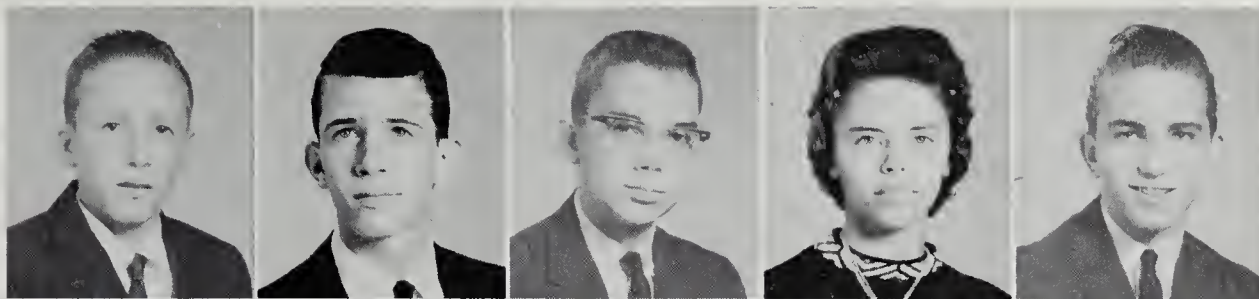

The Sophomore Class participated actively in school athletics. A number became members of Varsity teams.

Sophomores showed great interest in school social activities and enjoyed the many sock-hops and dances. The class sponsored a bake sale, the proceeds of which were used to finance the Harvest Dance on November 30. The dance, noted for its originality, was well attended and enjoyed by members of all classes.

Many sophomores participated actively in the W.H.S. Band, Chorus, and various school clubs.

Best of luck see ya this

Freshmen

The class officers are Diane Holmes, Treasurer, Jeannie Kay, Secretary, Roger Cross, President, and Eddie Patterson, Vice-President.

The active Freshman Class, composed of some 270 students, has been well-represented in scholastic, athletic, and social events. A number of freshmen studied accelerated subjects; all began to follow the courses of their selected high school programs. For the majority of freshmen, having individual lockers and all classes under the same roof was an appreciated innovation.

Under the supervision of their class sponsors and with assistance from the class officers, the Freshman Project Committee was formed to suggest activities. They planned several fund-raising projects, including a sock-hop. The class also was responsible for forming Waynesboro's first junior varsity cheerleading squad.

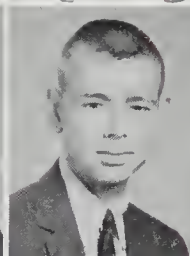

We, the Freshman Class, hope that in the next few years Waynesboro High School will benefit from our presence.

Curriculum

A six weeks developmental reading course is offered to students during their study halls. Mrs. Day, the instructor, helps Tommy Snell while Jeff Hitchcock, Leigh Thornton, and Martha Dickerson work individually.

Guidance Staff

The Guidance Staff, composed of Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Massie, and Mrs. Lawler, assists students to plan further their goals in life. All junior high school and high school students are assigned to a counselor with whom they may consult at any time.

Mrs. Schneider, guidance director, assists seniors in choosing a college which will suit their needs.

Mrs. Massie checks the morning attendance as part of her guidance duties.

Judy Palmer consults with Mrs. Lawler concerning her schedule.

Best of luck to a real nice guy - always remember history and band - Patti

Patty Glenn makes use of the college bulletins in the guidance office.

Business Education

David Saum struggles with a typewriter in his personal typing and notehand class. This course is for college preparatory students.

The Business Education Department tries to offer a variety of subjects to meet the demands of the business community. By taking shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, basic business, and vocational office training, the student receives a good foundation for most jobs in the business field.

Linda Earman learns to operate a rotary calculator in her vocational office training class.

Distributive Education

The Distributive Education Department is very active at W.H.S. In this program the student receives classroom training directly related to his chosen business occupation in the retail, wholesale, or service fields. At the same time he acquires work experience with a businessman who provides part-time employment for which the student receives school credit.

Languages

Did she say fourteen tenses? C'est impossible!

*my arm
KEATS
thanks!*

Mrs. Ryerson and Mr. Forbes must wonder what mysteries dwell behind the desk tops.

Monsieur Forbes prepares his French class for a lab drill. Un, deux, trois . . .

*Edward, back
Hood back and all that to a wonderful day. Certainly enjoyed our algebra class.
Many thanks.*

Latin is far from dead as these third year students illustrate by donning their togas.

The day is rapidly passing when Americans can afford to be monolingualists. The shrinking globe and America's strategic role in the free world make it imperative that the American be able to communicate with other people who speak different languages. The Language Department is striving to help the pupils learn the language for use rather than learn about the language and not be able to speak or understand.

Last summer a modern language laboratory, accommodating as many as four hundred French and Spanish students a day, was installed and has stimulated learning and interest in foreign languages. Three years of Latin, two of Spanish and five of French are offered at Waynesboro High School.

Poor Mr. Perry, attacked by one of his toughest Spanish students, will soon cry in dismay, "Y tu, Gretchen?"

English

Betty Lou Reynolds is giving her oral book report, a necessary evil in senior English classes.

Since the ability to communicate in good, clear English has become increasingly important in industry as well as in the sciences and the humanities, the English Department of W.H. S. endeavors to give each student the opportunity to develop the skills he needs for his chosen vocation or profession.

Mrs. Moss teaches her English classes literature as well as grammar.

Mathematics

*Best always to a future
physicist!
Eric*

Miss Corbin's sixth period algebra class wonders how Eric Meade ever managed to draw such a perfect parabola.

Yes, that is a slide rule in Ronnie Schneider's hand. He's tackling one of the extra large problems Miss Knicely delights in giving her Math 12A class.

The purpose of the Mathematics Department is to provide the mathematical facts, concepts, and skills which will meet the needs of each student. The department is trying to include in the mathematics curriculum the proposals being made by the State Department of Education, the College Examination Boards, and the School Mathematics Study Group.

A minimum of three years of basic mathematics is offered for those interested only in the minimum course. Presently, however, a five year program is also being offered which includes two years of algebra, one year of plane or solid geometry fused, one semester of trigonometry, one semester of college algebra, and an additional year of advanced mathematics.

Science

Science and its applications are rapidly changing the conditions of life on this planet. In fields such as agriculture, medicine, transportation, and communications the importance of science enters everyone's lives.

The Waynesboro Science Department is trying to do its part in meeting the needs of its students. At the present time five separate science courses are being offered. There is hope of revising the curriculum in the future so that the science courses will be more meaningful.

In addition to classroom activities that range from lecture to laboratory work, the Waynesboro High School Science program includes field trips, guest speakers, Saturday sessions, summer workshops, the Science Club, and the Science Fair.

Charlene McCormick and Anne Tichenor perform a delicate titration experiment in Mr. Gilbert's second period chemistry class.

Biology students Linda Bradley and Linda Dalton chase paramecium with a microscope.

In the third period physics class, Terry Smith and Rodney McDowell use bricks, toy carts, rubber bands, and paper tape to measure the effect of force on velocity.

Social Studies

W.H.S. has occasionally had a mysterious visitor—a Wambesi fisherman with a French accent! Actually, it's Mrs. White leading a discussion on Africa.

What does the Mayflower Compact or Declaration of Independence mean to us today? What did the Ancient Greeks and Romans contribute to our culture? How does filibustering or malapportionment affect our government? Where are Ghana, New Guinea, the Guianas and why are we concerned with their problems? How was World War II a continuation of World War I? Why should we be concerned about the rulings of the Waynesboro City Council? How does the Renaissance or the Reformation influence us? How does the Common Market and Russian living affect our economic survival? Questions like these challenge history, government, and geography students whose activities include: lectures, discussions, panels, films, current events, book reports, field trips, projects and map making.

Mrs. Wade and two of her students, David Cunningham and Arnold Burnett, discuss the invasion of India.

Mr. Powell takes refuge in the math-history office when his government classes get him down.

Physical Education

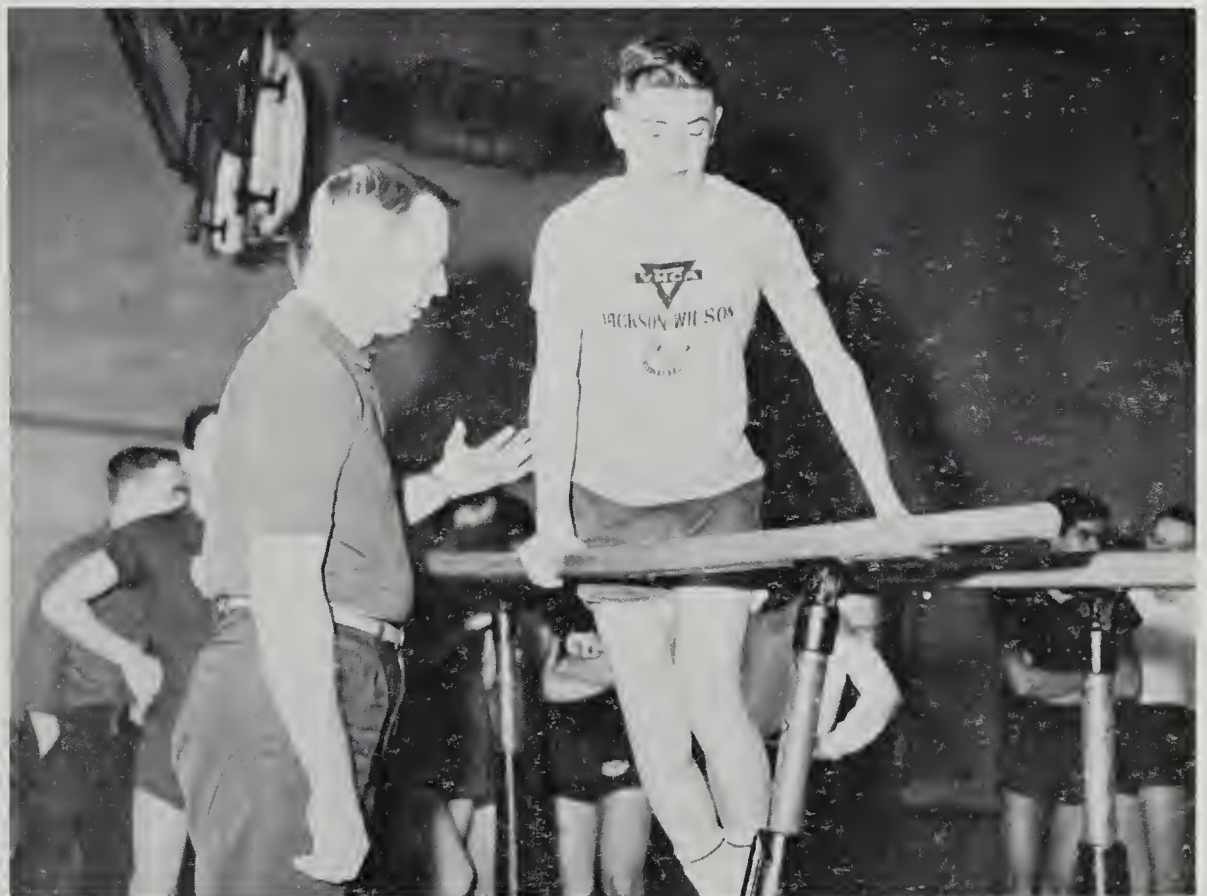

The Physical Education Department is interested in improving the students both mentally and physically. The three year program offers a graded study of health, mental health, first aid, and under-the-hood driver training. The students improve their skill in team, dual, and individual sports, folk dancing, and tumbling. Physical Education is required in the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades.

One of the most unusual activities in the girls' section is modern dancing. Here Mrs. Reynold's fifth period class demonstrates a basic formation.

Coach Blosser helps Donnie Knicely across the parallel bars.

Electives

Students can replace study halls or fill out their schedules with a wide variety of electives.

Mr. Edwards illustrates a point for the boys and girl in his architectural drawing class.

Budgeting, cooking, and sewing are all part of the senior homemaking class. Here Beverley Griffith and Margaret Newnham learn to set the table.

Judy Walsh, Sherry Clark, and Margaret Newnham broadcast "Waynesboro High School Viewpoint" from WAYB as part of their speech class.

Mr. Yoder demonstrates a clay sculpturing process to Sue Bunch in his art class.

Tommy Green and Ronnie Carter discuss a problem concerning the engine lathe in Mr. Pidcock's fifth period shop class.

Organizations

Helen Mehler, a member of the Student-Waynesboro Education Association, uses her free period to help teach second-graders at Jackson-Wilson.

It sponsored a Christmas door decorating contest and donated the profits to Operation Santa Claus. Also during the year there were bake sales and a Little Giants cushion sale. The Club attended the District Meeting in Covington and left victorious. The high point of the year was the Employer-Employee Banquet, which was held in the spring. The club plans to send a delegate to the National Leadership Conference in Chicago, and to participate in the June Leadership Conference to be held in Richmond.

The Dramatics Club was reorganized this year, after several years of inactivity.

Three club members participated in the District One-act Play Festival held at Albemarle High School on March 14. The play "Grenachika", is a comedy in one act, and was written by Merle Bouton Young. The three characters were Appelzine, a slothful, unscrupulous mountaineer, played by John Leys; Grenachika, his attractive young wife, portrayed by Mary Eckman; and Molo, the Magistratos, humorously played by Van Johnson. The Play was directed by Mrs. Moss, who was assisted by Eddie Dedrick. Several senior members of the club took part in the Senior Play, Blithe Spirit.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Moss, the club held meetings where plays were read and discussed, and plans were made for the presentation of one-act plays.

The goal of the French Club, formed this year under Mr. Forbes, was to carry over classroom activities into outside projects and to further the understanding of French culture. Interesting programs including talks on French customs and a French movie, "A Mouse, a Dog, and a Sputnik," with English sub-titles, were planned and set up by Ann Bush, vice-president. In the spring the entire school participated in a "French Day" which was devoted entirely to studying the French from all angles in most of the classrooms. On the night of "French Day" a Mardi Gras Ball was held and a King, Queen, and Court were chosen to reign over the elaborate affair. The French Club was open to anyone who took French and was interested in the club.

The Future Business Leaders of America is composed of Waynesboro High School students enrolled in the business curriculum. It is a nationally affiliated group with organized chapters in every state. Regional and state conventions are held in each state and there is a convention on the national level every summer.

The F.B.L.A.'s primary goal is to develop competent business leaders. The local clubs, under the guidance of the national organization, attempt to reach this goal by sponsoring contests and various other business-related projects. For example, the Waynesboro chapter of F.B.L.A. has worked on such projects as the Christmas seal program, food baskets for the needy, the sale of football programs, and the operation of a school supply store. It enters contests at the Madison College regional meeting, and if it is fortunate enough to win, it usually sends its entries on to compete on the state and national level.

The F.B.L.A. doesn't neglect the social side of life, and it usually tries to have several socials throughout the year, topped off by its annual spring picnic. The F.B.L.A. is a very worthwhile and integral part of a business student's curriculum.

The Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of high school girls enrolled in home economics. Its over-all goal is to help the individual improve personal, family, and community living, now and in the future. This year's program of work for the Waynesboro F.H.A. chapter included a Christmas Open House for parents, students, and administration to demonstrate holiday foods and decorations, preparation and serving of luncheons, and an international dinner for mothers. As a service project, the F.H.A. prepared refreshments for the monthly faculty meetings. The organization enjoyed making puppets for the Waynesboro Hospital Auxiliary. It also sponsored a study of preparation for marriage. The club finished its activities with a spring fashion show in which the girls modeled clothes they had made.

"Gold and Purple Glimpses", a page published by and for the students of Waynesboro High School, appears in the Waynesboro News-Virginian on every other Thursday. Aside from news concerning WHS, it contains feature articles about such groups as the majorettes, band, chorus, and cheerleaders. Included in the page's regular features this year were Senior Spotlight, Student of the Month, individual welcomes to new teachers and this year's column, "Gab Bag" by Beverley Griffith. "Gold and Purple Glimpses" was also useful in the publicizing of SCA projects, dances, the Senior Play, and the Junior Variety Show.

The Key Club is a service club which strives to develop initiative and leadership in social, religious, and athletic fields. The club's purpose is to prepare the members for serving the school and community through various service projects.

This year the club sponsored the school Christmas Dance, attended the Key Club Convention in March, and gave an assembly. Since the Kiwanis Club sponsors the organization, the Key Club took part in such projects as the Kiwanis barbecue and Kiwanis Minstrel. Two members of the Key Club were sent to Kiwanis meetings each week.

The Library Council is a service organization whose main objective is to provide increased and improved library service to the school. It is composed of a volunteer group of pupils who have interests centering around the library activities of the school and the community. Membership in the club provides opportunities for one to broaden his personal experiences, to become more adept in the use of books in the library, and to experience the satisfaction derived from serving his fellow students. Each member of the council works in the library one period a day as a student library assistant. In addition to this activity, the council sponsors the school's paper back bookstore. It also encourages the improvement of library attitudes and the wider use of books through displays, bulletin boards, and the distribution of bookmarks. Each year the Library Council visits another library of interest to the group.

The National Beta Club is an honor society composed of juniors and seniors who have maintained a B average throughout their high school classwork. Promoting leadership, academic achievement, and the preservation of desirable character, the club encourages effort, rewards merit, and inspires and assists its students to continue their education after high school graduation.

This fall's Sadie Hawkins dance, the organization's annual project, was a resounding success. Club members worked all afternoon decorating with pumpkins, cornstalks, drawings and crepe paper before attending that evening. Another of the club's annual activities was the compiling and posting of the honor roll each six weeks. On March 15th, 16th, and 17th, a delegation from Waynesboro participated in the state convention at Richmond. At a special assembly, sophomores and juniors meeting the standards of the club were invited into the club.

The Wayne Chapter of the National Honor Society is composed of seniors who have maintained a ninety-five average in their high school studies and who have the qualities of leadership, scholarship, character, and service. This year, under the supervision of Miss Knicely, the club assembled the Last Will and Testament of the Senior Class and revised the Student Handbook, which informs transfer students and incoming eighth-graders about the curriculum, clubs, rules, and available scholarships at Waynesboro High School. Each year the Honor Society sponsors an assembly in which qualified juniors are tapped into the organization.

The Pep Club, one of the largest clubs in the school, is responsible for promoting school spirit and helping the cheerleaders create good sportsmanship among the students.

This year, for the first time, boys became members of the Pep Club and even held offices. They were a great asset to the club.

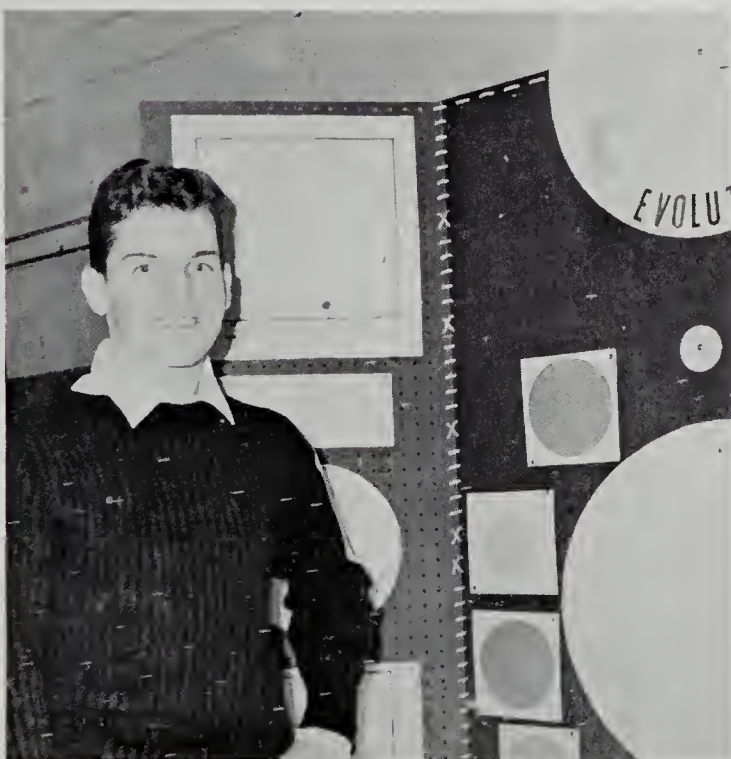

Having many projects, such as publicizing basketball and football games, decorating the goal posts, and participating in skit pep rallies, the Pep Club's year was quite busy. It was one of the chief aids to the cheerleaders, in that its members were taught new cheers and then helped to lead them at games.

The highlight of the year for the Pep Club came when they sponsored the Homecoming Dance after the Wilson game. In preparation for this, tickets, publicity, and voting for the Homecoming court were taken charge of by the club. The goal posts were also gaily decorated. The dance, held in the girls' gym, decorated in the traditional gold and purple, was well attended by Waynesboro High School students and alumni.

Alan Wittbecker's exhibit on Stellar Evolution won first place in the Senior Division of the Science Fair.

The Science Club, a nationally affiliated group, helps to promote interest in science at Waynesboro High School. As in past years, the main club project was the Science Fair. This annual event allows public school students to exhibit their work in any field of science. The projects were judged in four age groups; winners' projects were entered in competition for the National Fair. At each club meeting a talk was given by a guest speaker or by a club member concerning his project.

School Band

The drums began to roll, the team left the field, and the band marched on with one of its unusual half-time shows. The band represented our school at all home and some away football games, boosted parades, and made several "field trips". It traveled to the University of Virginia for Band Day, played at Washington and Lee University, and received first prize for its efforts in the Staunton Christmas Parade. It also presented three concerts, which were well received. In February, twenty-one members, six of whom obtained first chair positions, attended All-State Band. Several members attended Solo Festival, and the whole band participated in the District Band Festival. The band was featured again this year in First Chair of America, which chooses only one or two bands from each state.

Majorettes

Karen Schneider, Drum Majorette.

In the spring of last year, thirteen girls became the Waynesboro High School Majorettes on the basis of their twirling and marching ability, personal appearance, personality, scholarship, and citizenship. This year, under the supervision of Mrs. Reynolds, the girls marched with the high school band in parades and football games. When the band performed at Washington and Lee University, the majorettes performed also. During the basketball season, they marched during the half-times.

Hard work and long hours of practice preceded all performances of the majorettes. However, it was all worthwhile when they won awards or the appreciation of an audience.

At last our goal has been reached. Here it is—the 1963 Skyline. We've worked extra hard this year to make your yearbook a success. We must admit that things were a little hectic as we frantically identified pictures, completed layouts, typed write-ups, and strived to meet the deadlines. Ideas for pictures were thought over, accepted, and posed. Our cameraman could be seen almost anywhere from the chemistry lab to the Junior-Senior Prom.

But we aren't complaining. The publication of this year's annual has been a memorable experience. We have depicted the school year in pictures and prose as a lasting memento for the student.

Mr. Perry, who is planning to visit Mexico this summer, will give the money to small Mexican villages in need of paper, pencils, books and other such supplies.

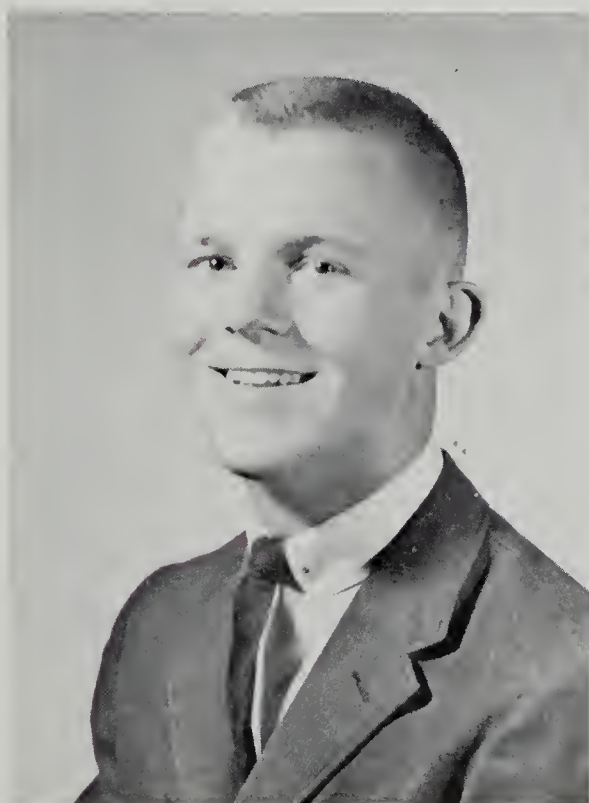

In order to raise money, the organization sponsored a dance for the school and held bake sales. It also prepared a banquet for the Spanish Club and ended the school year with a club dance. The Spanish Club met every other Thursday to plan and carry out these projects. Mr. Perry contributed much to the meetings by giving talks on various Spanish-speaking countries.

The Student Co-operative Association, the governing body of our school, has been quite active this year. Its main effort has been to raise enough money to bring a foreign exchange student to our school in the near future. Some of its projects were after-game sock hops, an odd-jobs day, and sale of Little Giant decals and night shirts. On Bermuda Day students bought licenses to wear bermudas to school and to attend a sock hop later. To promote interest in the exchange student, the club sponsored an assembly in which students who had visited Europe described their experiences. Through these projects the S.C.A. earned over half the money needed. Other activities this year included Operation Santa Claus, and the publication of SCAWAY and the S.C.A. bulletin.

The Waynesboro delegation had a lot to be proud of when George Mitchell presided over the State F.T.A. Convention.

The Student-Waynesboro Education Association, consisting of young people considering a teaching career, helps its members find out more about the field of education. This year the club, for its fourth consecutive year, sent representatives to the State F.T.A. Convention at Richmond. One member, George Mitchell, served as state president during the year and as recording secretary during the preceding year.

Members of the local club maintaining good grades could help teach at Jackson-Wilson school as often as they wished during free periods. The S.W.E.A. sponsored the Valentine Dance, as usual, and topped off the year by awarding a scholarship to a June graduate.

This year as always the Junior Varsity football team had a rebuilding job to do. After a rough start playing Albemarle two games in a row and losing, then losing a game to Staunton, the J.V.'s "decided" they could really play ball, and that they did, coming back to win the rest of their games!

David Fisher, fullback, and Larry Thompson, quarterback, both played excellent offensive ball, while Roger Cross, Paul Smith, Tommy Campbell, and David Shiflett starred as defensive players. Most of these boys will probably prove to be very valuable varsity players next year.

All the boys of the team should be commended for their ability and sportsmanship in athletics, and because they learned the importance of playing well and of observing good sportsmanship, many of them will have a fine future as varsity players in years to come.

Basketball captains Tom Rannie and Terry Smith stand beside Coach Bill Blosser, who in his second year built an exciting team around these two players.

Meredith Boyd, hard-driving line coach in football and assistant track coach; Ben Stewart, backfield coach of football; and Dick Lotts, J. V. football and J. V. basketball coach, are searching for talent as they surround Athletic Director and Head football and track coach, Lem Fitzgerald.

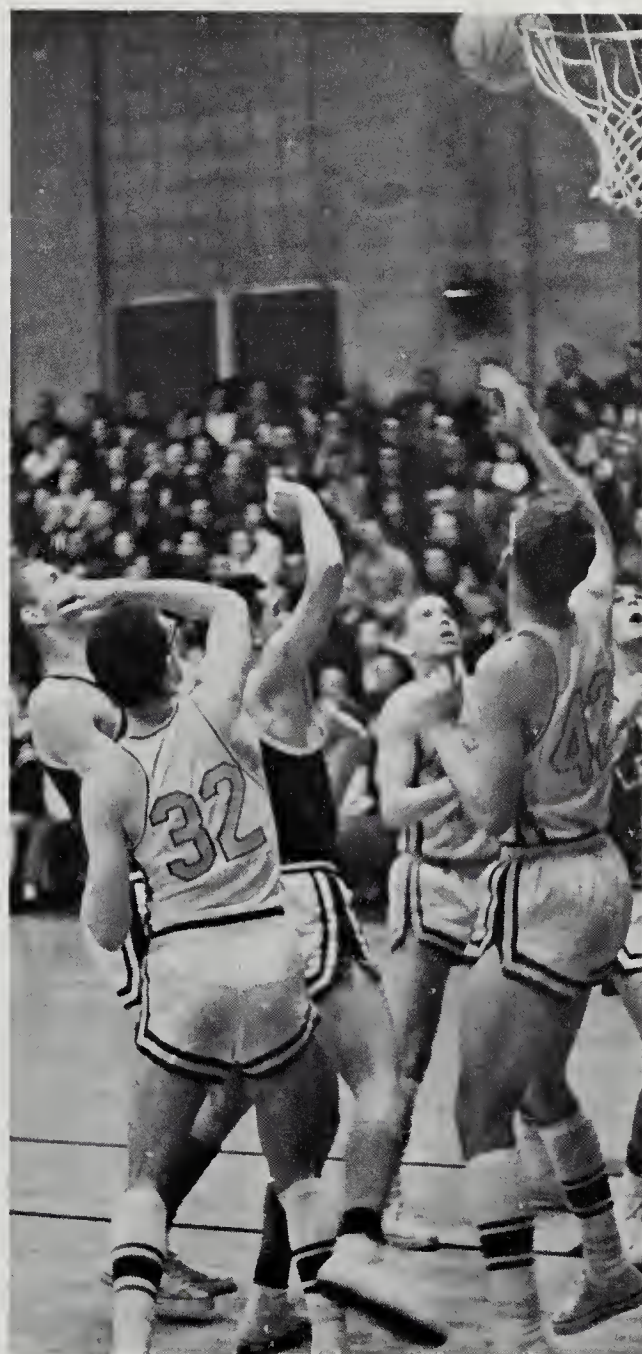

Varsity Basketball

At the beginning of the season, Waynesboro wasn't figured in the running for the championship. Coach Bill Blosser had a young squad, with only four seniors. The Little Giants were composed of these seniors, five juniors, and six sophomores. But Waynesboro ended the season in a tie with Harrisonburg for fourth place. Since only four teams could go to the district tournament this year, Waynesboro and Harrisonburg had to play an extra game to determine who would go to the tournament. Harrisonburg won the playoff by nine points, but the game was close and exciting. As a result, Waynesboro became the fifth place team.

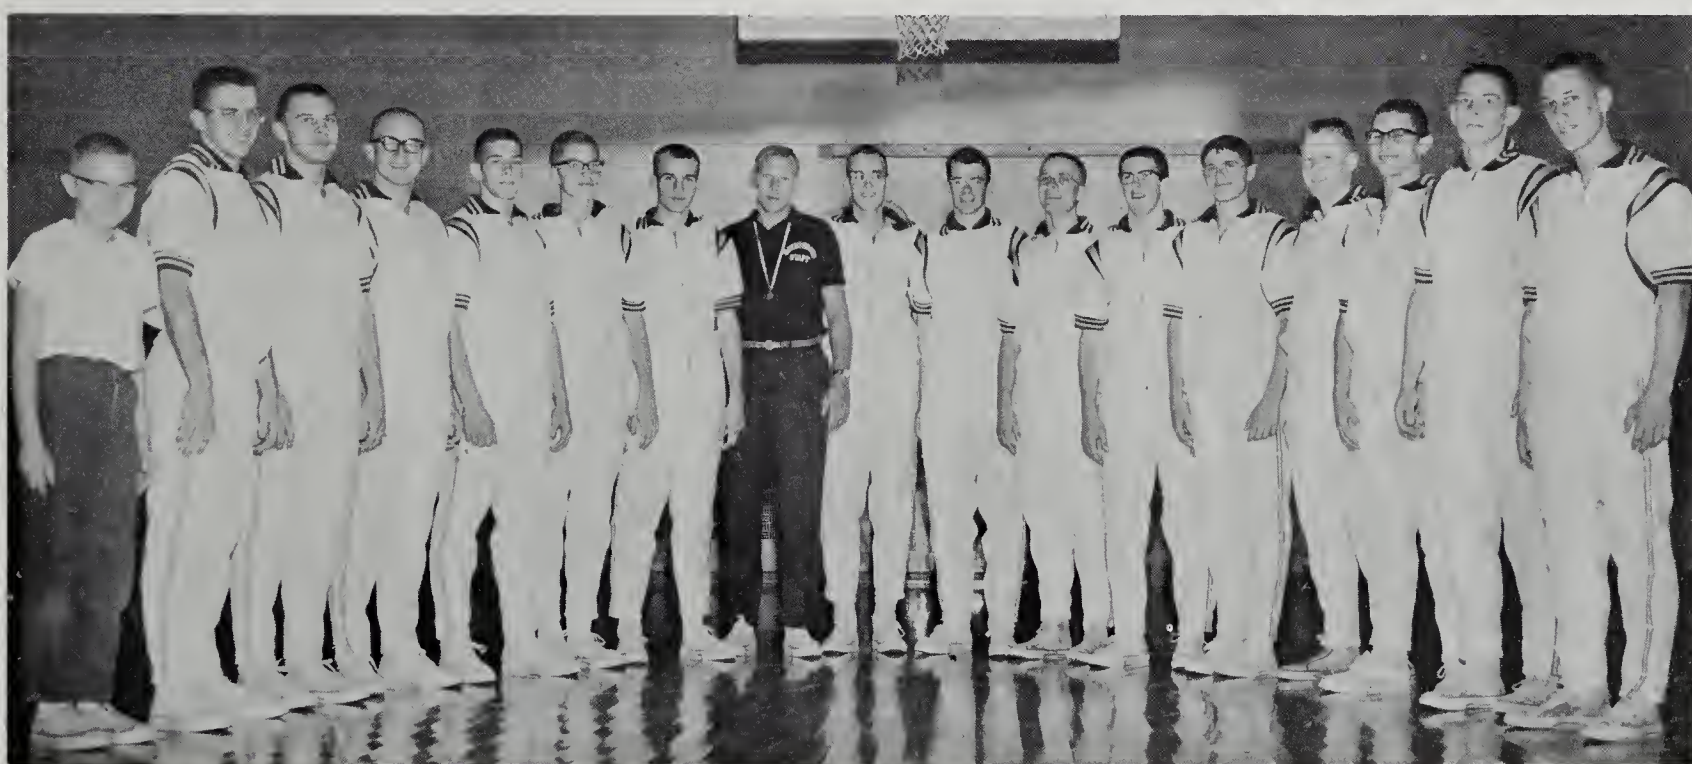

Tom Rannie, who nearly broke a school record by scoring 37 points against Lexington, led the Waynesboro scorers with an average of 15.1 points per game. Tinker Moyer was the second leading scorer for Waynesboro with an average of 11.4; and Terry Smith did well with an average of 9.6 points per game.

Waynesboro was third in the league offensively and defensively. The record was ten wins and seven losses in overall competition, and six wins and seven losses in district play.

We realize that we can't be the best every year, and even though we didn't make it to the tournament, we are very proud of our team of 1963.

It is a tense moment during the home game with Lee as Arnold Doyle, Terry Smith, and John Mowen wait for the ball to drop off the rim.

Row 2: Bobby Moore; Lee Hickock; John Luxton; Larry Wood; Bill Bailey; Robert Gray, Manager; Jon Hutton.

This year Coach Lotts' Little Giants completed a highly successful season, winning eleven out of fifteen games. They averaged 49 points per game while showing a strong defense in giving up an average of only 33.7.

Regulars Rick Ferguson, Eddie Burns, and Dale Fisher backed up Jamie Brown, whose 17.1 average led all scorers. The team as a whole was well endowed with height, showing good balance, drive and determination.

The only team able to take both games from the J.V. Giants was the undefeated Lee squad, but the W. H. S. boys gave them a fight for their money before losing by a one point margin. The J.V.'s ended their season on a high note when they defeated the Perry McCluer J.V.'s 59-48.

Coach Lotts deserves a lot of credit for molding his squad into a well-coordinated unit and preparing his boys for future varsity roles.

Baby Amazons

This year has brought forth many new proposals at Waynesboro High School, principally that we have Ben Casey, Dr. Kildare, the Nurses, and Medic assume complete medical care of our floor-loving basketball team. Our seniors have had quite a lively time. Anne Kay broke her foot early in the season; this was followed by injuries to the metacarpals of Rita Hyman and Joyce Lindsey. The Varsity ranks were further reduced by the Senior Play. Unfortunately, as manager Mary Lane Stuart and her assistant have informed us, this was not the year for the Varsity squad. Remaining with the team will be five Varsity lettermen and five J.V.'s that are to move up this coming season. We are looking forward to a much better year.

The Waynesboro High School Baseball Team, coached by Mr. Blosser, displayed a fine season in 1962. Losing only five games, the team showed good fielding as well as hitting. Many of last year's outstanding players, such as Randy Snyder, Terry Smith, Allan Tulloch, Ernie Phillips and Tom Rannie are expected to return for the 1963 season. Also starting on last year's first team were underclassmen, Arnold Doyle and Junior Whitlock. With these experienced members plus the remaining rookies, the Little Giants should take the District Championship in 1963.

The Little Giants track squad, although not winning every meet, showed good potential in 1962. The young team gained much experience last year and is expected to turn in a better record in the 1963 season. Chuck Jeffries, Andy Austin, and Bill Walters were the outstanding figures in the shotput and discus. George Black, Doug Deffenbaugh, Wendy Jones, and Frank McClung were the squad's main distance runners, while the shorter runs were controlled by David and Richard Saum, Eddie Smith, and Denny Kestner. The high jump and pole vault were handled by Joe Pallischeck while Eddie Smith starred in the broad jump. Losing only two of these outstanding members, the 1963 track squad should make a much better showing. Co-captain Joe Pallischeck tied for second in the state in the high jump and co-captain Chuck Jeffries finished fourth in the state shotput.

The Waynesboro High School Tennis Club and Team was organized in 1962 for the purpose of promoting interest in the sport of tennis in the school. In its first year the club had almost forty members actively participating in an intramural ladder-tournament which was won by Eric Mead in the Boys' Division. The Girls' Division was never completed.

This year, the 1963 club is going to support an interscholastic team to play other schools. Both boys' and girls' meets will be held. At the first meeting of the year, Dick Menaker was re-elected to the office of President and Anita Henson was elected secretary. Mrs. Maxwell is the faculty advisor and Mrs. Barbara Kress, a local tennis-pro, will act as coach.

The response to the club this year has been tremendous. We hope this will be an important year for the tennis club and that it will become an organization the entire school can be proud of.

Last year, for the first time in the history of Waynesboro High School, there was a golf team at W.H.S. In their first season, the Little Giants of the links won the District Championship with a record of five and one. They also played two matches with Lane and won both of these. Before each match, every member had to qualify to determine what position he played on the team. The following boys received letters: Pat Daugherty, Larry Pope, Jimmy Leavel, Robert Morin, and Tommy Lawler. With the exception of two matches, a six-man team was used. A four-man team was used in the two matches with Harrisonburg. Match play (play by holes) prevailed throughout the season.

Sadie Hawkins was the dance every girl looked forward to. At this time she could abandon her perch by the telephone and use her time to better advantage; for instance, she had to decide which boy to bestow her graces upon and gather up enough courage to ask him for a date. The male point of view differed somewhat. Slightly disgruntled, he now had the problem of anxiously awaiting a call and a sweet feminine voice asking him out. But despite the mixed sentiments and worrying on the part of the boys, the entire population of the school arrived in Dogpatch attire for the dance and everyone had a fabulous, wonderful, stupendous, magnificent time on his very own two square inches of dance floor.

Members of the Beta Club, the sponsoring organization, unveiled their artistic ability by decorating the old gym with huge drawings of Little Abner, Daisy Mae, and a conglomeration of similar Dogpatch residents, presided over by that outstanding historical figure, General Jubulation T. Cornpone. In the corners of the gym were jungles of cornstalks, straw, pumpkins and other exquisite decorations. The Sadie Hawkins Court, elected by the school during the previous week, was regally announced during the affair. The winners were presented with lovely handmade vegetable corsages; the king, Ernie Phillips, was crowned with a very valuable twenty-four carrot tiara.

Homecoming

Homecoming Queen
Miss Nancy Cooper

Waynesboro High School's Homecoming was celebrated on November 5th. During the half-time of the Waynesboro - Wilson Memorial game, the Court came onto the middle of the football field for the announcement of the long awaited decision of who would be the Homecoming Queen. The question was soon to be answered when Nancy Cooper was crowned Homecoming Queen. After the Little Giants' victory, a Homecoming Dance was held in the girls' gym, decorated in gold and purple.

Senior princesses were Ellen Potts and Tina Jordan; the Junior class was represented by Nancy Thomas and Patsy Vines; Patsy Bell and Betty Jeffries were the Sophomore members.

Valentine Dance

Members of the court were: John Luxton, Emily Curry, Eddie Powell, Linda Tucker, Judy Weakley, Terry Smith, Barbara Hersey, Bill Roosa, Barbara Penn, and Bill Bailey.

As spring rolled around this year and students' minds wandered from term papers to thoughts of love, the Student-Waynesboro Education Association once again took advantage of the situation by sponsoring the annual Valentine Dance. The gym was strung with red and white crepe paper, and the walls were concealed with traditional cupids and valentines. Each table had a decoration of some type on it. The King, Queen, and their court were chosen by the students and were announced at the dance promptly at ten o'clock when the Queen was crowned with a sparkly tiara. Terry Smith and Judy Weakley reigned as King and Queen; Eddie Powell and Linda Tucker were Prince and Princess; Bill Roosa and Barbara Hersey were Duke and Duchess; Bill Bailey and Barbara Penn were Baron and Baroness; and Court Jesters were John Luxton and Emily Curry.

Sweetheart Dance

The bright spot in the dance was the crowning of Miss Betty Jeffries as the Key Club Sweetheart.

After many attempts the Waynesboro Key Club gave its very successful Christmas-After Exams-Groundhog-Sweetheart Dance on February 2nd. The east gym was decorated with red and white streamers of crepe paper and a miniature castle stood in the far end of the gym. To the music of the "Top Hats" from Harrisonburg, "semi-formally dressed" girls and dates danced the night away. Betty Jeffries, a W.H.S. sophomore, was elected by members of the Key Club as "Ground Hog Queen." She was presented with a very original gift, a Key Club sweatshirt.

An enthusiastic crowd attended and danced to the popular music of the Top Hats.

The dance was enjoyed by all and smiles like these were a common sight.

James Owens and Susan Beakes enjoy dancing the ever-popular twist.

Forensics

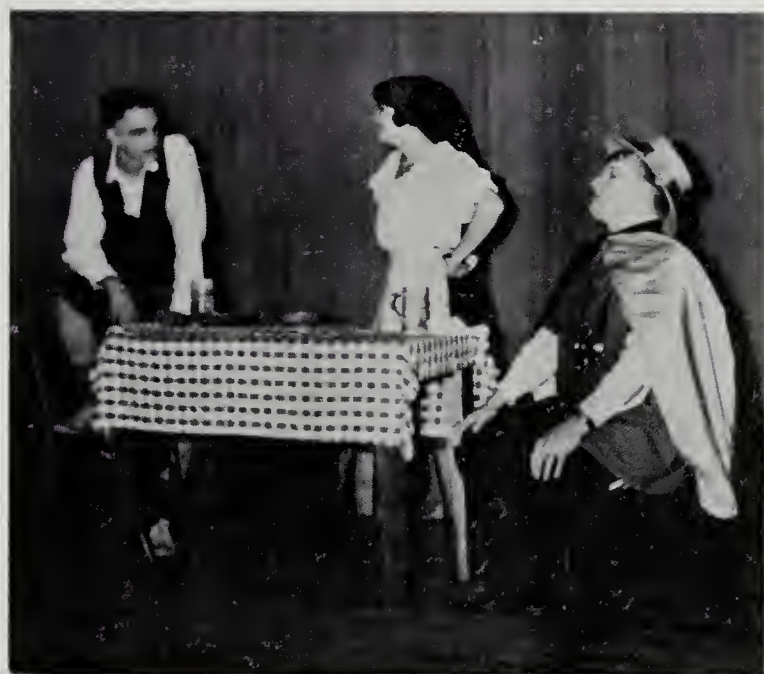

Forensic winners of 1963 were:

Row 1: Maarten Ultee, Spelling; Mary Eckman, Public Speaking.

Row 2: Signe Oas, Girl's Prose Reading; Jim Broadfoot, Public Speaking; Dick Menaker, Poetry Reading.

The Forensic Program is an annual event open to any Waynesboro High School student interested in public speaking, spelling, poetry reading, prose reading, and dramatics. The events are sponsored by the English department and winners are chosen from each of the classes to compete with the other winners in their respective grades. Those interested in dramatics may participate in the one-act play festival for district and possible state competition.

All students are required to give speeches in their English classes, but the other contests are voluntary. The winners of the public speaking contest present their speeches to the student body in an assembly. The judges consider the topic, content, and delivery of the speeches in choosing the best boy and girl speaker, who represent the school in the district meet. The winners in the spelling, poetry reading, and prose reading are picked in after-school competition and compete in the district contest.

Grenachika, directed by Mrs. Moss and Eddie Dedrick, was the play presented by W.H.S. in the One-Act Play Festival at Albemarle this year. The play, a part of the Forensic Contests, received an excellent rating. The cast included John Leys, Appelzine; Mary Eckman, Grenachika; and Van Johnson, Master Molo.

Junior Variety Show - 1962

A lively version of "Home On the Range", by Mary Eckman, Robbie Wade, and Judy Weakley, introduced the western scene.

When the occupants of the time machine arrived in the future, they were greeted with "Hillbilly Heaven", presented by the Crater Billies, Nancy Cooper, Ellen Potts, and Carolyn Patterson.

During the twenties scene, Dana Brooker and Nancy Flynn provided entertainment for the exhausted participants in the Dance Marathon.

"You're the old maid!" shouted Ronnie Aldhizer at the end of a card game in the saloon. Loser Greg Saunders started the brawl that ended the scene.

Preparation for the 1963 Show began early this year. Juniors Jinks Johnson, Susan Dinger, and Barbara Baugher practice a dance before try-outs.

Pep Rallies

During the speech assembly Coach Blosser employed various means to convince the student body that Lee didn't have a chance in the approaching basketball game.

The Littlest Giant, Eddie Powell, appeared with the team in the last few basketball games.

Two W.H.S. cheerleaders, Wanda Gilbert and Liz Muirhead, put in many hours of practice before cheering at the basketball and football games.

"Cheerleader" Richards Miller daringly displayed a dainty leg while Ernie Phillips smiled beautifully at the crowd.

Much feminine football talent was evidenced at this fall pep rally when the Little Giants trampled the other team mercilessly.

Faculty Follies

The musical genius hidden around W.H.S. came to light in a rousing choral tribute to the confederacy.

Waynesboro ballerinas, S. C. Callison, Truman Southall, Shirley Kiger are considered to rival even the famous Bolshoi dancers.

Student Teachers

This year's student teachers, Miss Faye Ware and Miss Kay Ferguson from Madison College, did their six weeks of student teaching in the Home Economics Department. After Miss Ware and Miss Ferguson observed the classes and got to know the students, they had a chance to teach a unit of their own. They taught the students many useful cooking and serving techniques while students helped them by giving them first-hand experience in the classroom.

Exchange Student

In order to promote interest in the exchange student, the S.C.A. sponsored an assembly in which four members of W.H.S. who had visited or lived in Europe told about their experiences. Andy Austin and Barney illustrated an idea as to what a Swiss student would be like.

For several years Waynesboro High School has considered having a foreign exchange student, but in order to do this, the students must raise approximately $1,000. This year the program has gotten into full swing. It is hoped that all money will be raised by 1964 so that the foreign student will be in Waynesboro by the following year. At that time W.H.S. becomes eligible to send a local student to another country. Projects other than those pictured were Bermuda Day, the Spring Dance, and sales of Little Giants decals and nightshirts.

First place in the Christmas door decorating contest went to Mr. Edwards' homeroom. Proceeds from the contest went to Operation Santa Claus; however, some of the prize money was donated to the Exchange Student Fund.

Ruthie Zimmer and Bobby Speck enjoy one of the after-game sock hops sponsored by the S.C.A. Class competition in raising the money was encouraged, and some classes sponsored dances in order to do their part.

Odd Jobs Day, which took place in November, brought in about $100. Students met at the school and spent the day washing windows, washing cars, raking leaves, cleaning houses, and planting tulip bulbs for Waynesboro residents. Allan Tulloch, Pat Steele, Chuck Jeffries, Andy Austin, and Randy Snyder remove leaves from the Austins' front yard.

Evening in Paris - 1962

Precariously balanced, Dana Brooker puts the finishing touches on the Cafe de la Paix.

As the Eiffel Tower begins to take shape, the somewhat tired decorators start putting up the sky.

The French theme of the 1962 Junior-Senior Prom was carried out very gaily. Spotlighted in the center of the gym was a huge crepe-paper Eiffel Tower surrounded with coral flowers. Those who wished could sit by the band at tables under the brightly striped awning of the Cafe de la Paix. A large French flag, the Tricolor, was draped over one wall; the entire opposite side was a mural picturing many familiar Parisian buildings at night. Two hostesses at the outside entrance, a miniature Arc of Triumph, presented each couple with a tiny china Eiffel Tower. The Prom was beautiful, and the hours spent decorating and cleaning up only added to the excitement of the evening.

Dud Vest stares confusedly at the tangled streamers which must somehow be transformed into a star-sprinkled ceiling.

Phil Richards shows Jean Johnson, Beverley Griffith, and Gretchen Fracher how to tape Newberry's gorgeous flowers to the base of the Eiffel Tower.
